

PRODUCT SAFETY RECALL

COLORSPEC Base Coat CS300G and Caliper Hi-Temp CSCHT300G

MotorActive is conducting a product recall of ColorSpec Base Coat CS300G Aerosol with batch number 508A or 521A or 524A or 533A and ColorSpec Caliper Hi-Temp CSCHT300G Aerosol with batch number 508A or 528A. The affected product was sold exclusively through Super Cheap Auto between 17th March 2015 and 5th September 2015.

The batch number appears on the top dome of the can and can be seen through the transparent plastic lid. Only aerosol cans with the batch numbers listed above are included in the recall.

DEFECT: Due to a manufacturing defect, the bottom of the can may bulge out or suddenly and violently burst.

HAZARD: If the defect occurs, the can could suddenly and violently burst propelling the can and dispersing the contents. This may cause serious injury or property damage.

WHAT TO DO: At all times when handling the can ensure that the bottom of the can is pointing away from any person or animal. Do not shake the can. If the bottom of the can shows signs of bulging contact us at the details below immediately. Otherwise, check the batch number by holding the can at arm length and reading the batch number on the top dome area of the can. If your product has the affected batch number:

1. Take the can outdoors to a well ventilated area away from other objects. We strongly recommend use of protective clothing, including gloves, safety/sun glasses and long sleeves/coveralls.
2. At arms length, turn the can upside down.
3. With one hand holding the can upside down point the nozzle into an open carton or cardboard box and use your other hand to press the nozzle until all the gas in the can is removed. If the can becomes excessively cold, stop, allow can to return to normal temperature, and repeat the process. When discharging the can ensure that the nozzle is pointing away from any person or object (some paint will come out),
4. Replace the cap and return the product to a Super Cheap Auto store for a full refund.
